

A cross-sectional view of a circular device. It features a central cavity (10) surrounded by a thick, textured ring (20). This ring is further enclosed by a thin layer (30), followed by a layer with radial hatching (40), and an outermost thin layer (50). Four arrows point radially outward from the center towards the boundary between layers 20 and 30.

FIG. 2.

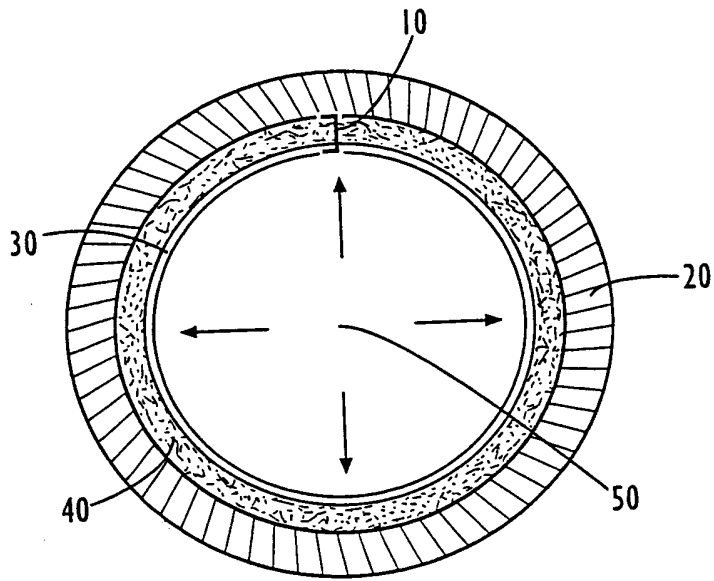

FIG. 3.

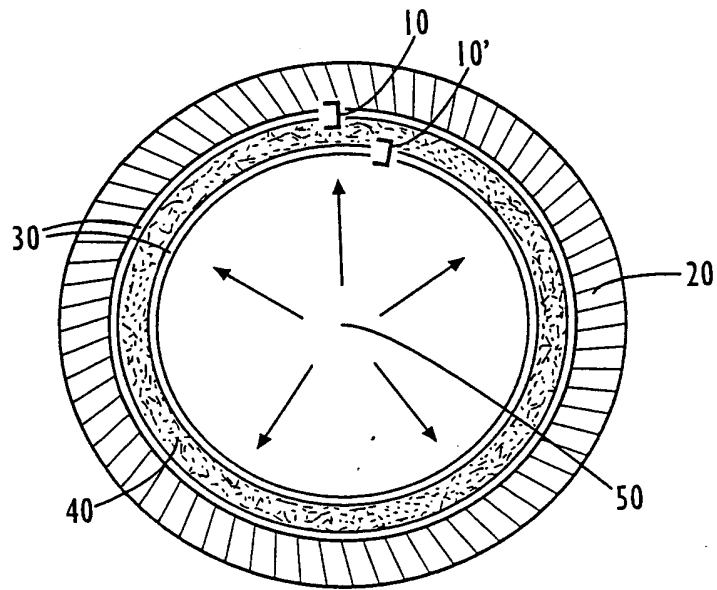

FIG. 4.